The objectives of this seminar are three:

1. Present different contexts and solutions to the challenges presented by the transition between upper secondary education and higher education in Mexico, France and other countries.
2. It marks also the beginning of the creation of a network of researchers in education policy between Mexico and France.
3. Provide the opportunity for researchers to present their work and their contributions to the field even if they are not related to the transition from high school to higher education.
